

Job.travel, a New Tool for the Hospitality and Travel Industry, At Just a Fraction of the Price of .com Competitors

Are you ready to fill a position at your hotel, restaurant, or tourist office? Or are you looking for a job in travel and hospitality? Job.travel is a new tool created by travel industry professionals to match employers and job seekers in “the Biz.”

Knowing how little time business owners and managers have to read e-mail, find qualified employees, and run their businesses, the job.travel team wanted to find a solution and fill this niche. With the ability to quickly search candidates and job opportunities from handheld, mobile devices or desktop computers, job.travel is easy to use and simple for even the non-tech savvy individual.

With the present rat race and busy, multi-tasking lifestyles, job.travel aims to save employers and job seekers time. This is why, as an added convenience, job.travel offers mobile text and e-mail alerts when candidates and jobs match. These alerts provide access to “snapshots” to get a quick view of both candidates and job opportunities.

“We decided to launch our business with .travel because we are travel and hospitality veterans that no how difficult it is to create clear messaging and brand. With our choice of .travel, there is no doubt to the end user that the website is a one stop shop to find information about jobs within the travel and hospitality industry,” commented job.travel team leader, Celeste Allen, “The arena of employment sites is very competitive, but we believe that job.travel is unique because it is exclusive to the travel and hospitality industry at prices that no one can deny provide return on investment.”

Job.travel is a complimentary site for job seekers and very economic for employers. At $198 a year, employers receive unlimited job postings and searches of qualified candidates in their local areas. In comparison to the .com competition, Job.travel is thousands of dollars cheaper.

Job.travel saves employers money, time, and the hassle of finding qualified candidates. To take advantage of unlimited job postings and candidate search for less than twenty dollars a month, please visit www.job.travel to create your account and begin posting your organization’s career opportunities or create your resume for an exciting new position in hospitality and travel.